Project Introduction

General introduction

Brief introduction

As a dedicated web design student, I embarked on a learning iteration assessment to apply theoretical knowledge to practical scenarios. The objective was to select a client from the digital landscape and undertake the task of reimagining their website. After meticulous research and consideration, ProGym, a reputable gym company based in Montreal, emerged as the ideal candidate for this endeavor.

My Motivations

The reason why I choose this company to rebuild the website

Pro Gym Website: <https://en.progymmontreal.com/>

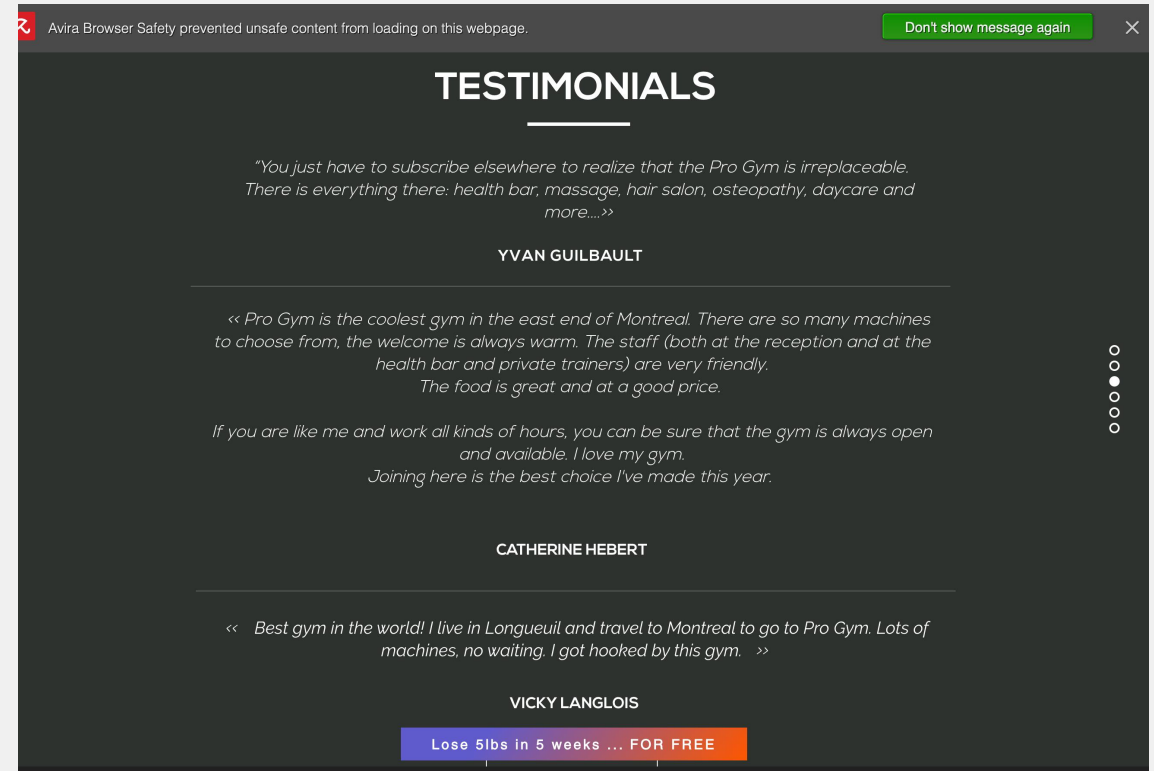

01

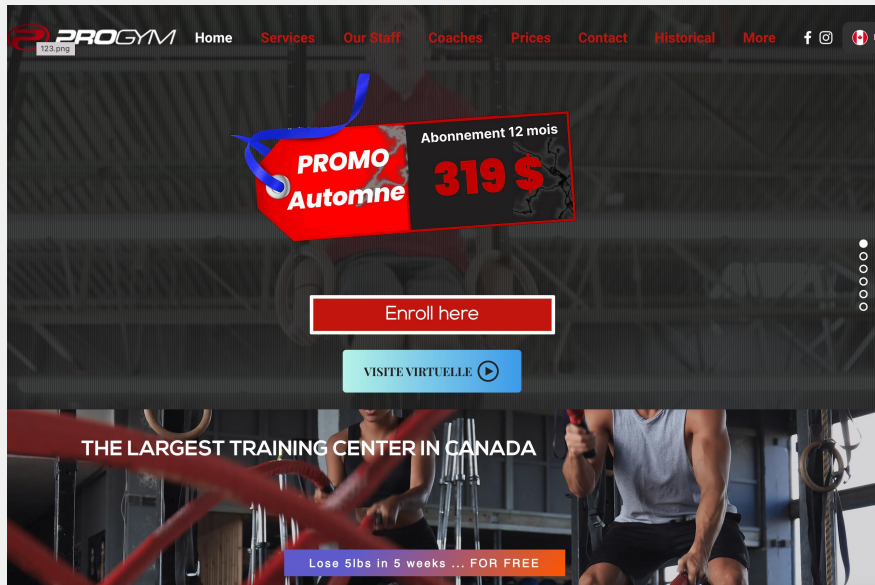

Non-Responsive Design

Websites that don't adapt well to different screen sizes (like mobile devices) can provide a frustrating user experience.

02 Too Much Text

Too Little Visuals: some section has long paragraphs without visual breaks can be overwhelming. Balance text with images, videos, and infographics.

03

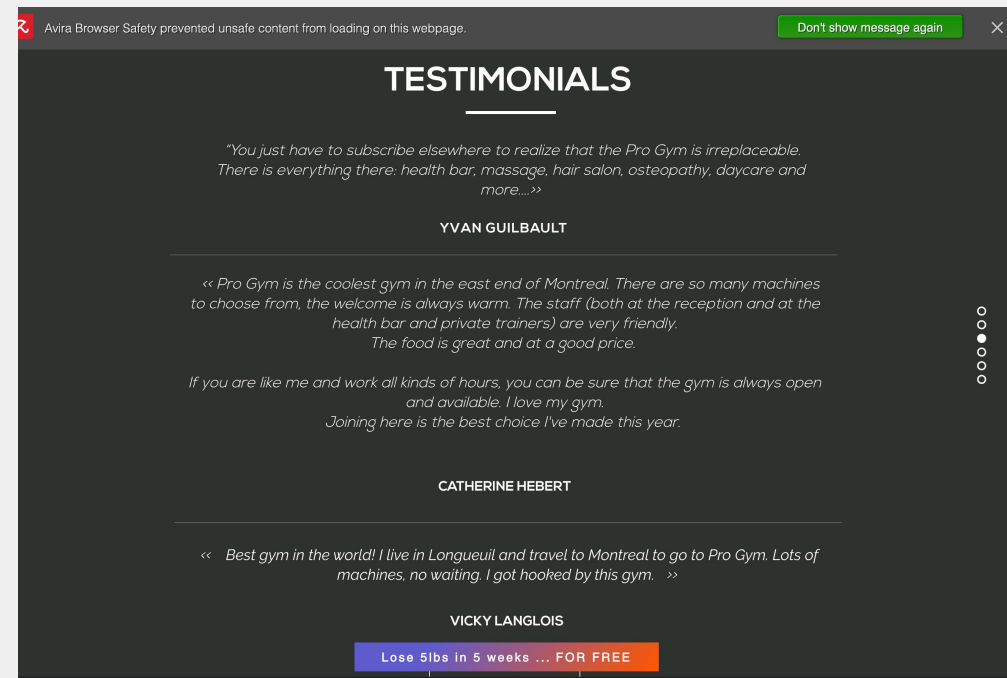

Poor Color Choices

Inappropriate color schemes, such as hard-to-read text or clashing colors, can be visually jarring and deter users.
